Building the Future - Criteria for Sustainability

The natureplus sustainability objectives are reflected in the programme of the international building congress Future of Building 2019 with inputs from Asia, Africa and Austria: from timber construction in the cities, from the avoidance of heat islands through inner-city greening to the recycling potential of building materials, from the various technologies and components to near-natural building materials such as wood, straw and clay, to glass, ecological mineral plasters and wall paints, insulating bricks and energy generation from waste water. Construction processes with 3D printing and intelligent prefabrication, as well as digitization, are topics that the construction industry cannot ignore. Presentations, workshops, exhibitions and business talks will provide valuable impetus for further development. The event will be held in English.

Below you will find the natureplus programme recommendations with selected lectures about sustainable building. The complete programme of Future of Building 2019 can be found here and on the homepage of the Austrian Federal Economic Chamber. We would like to thank our Austrian partner, the IBO - Österreichisches Institut für Bauen und Ökologie GmbH - for the organisation. Register now on the natureplus homepage.
